Key Insight

Most purchase sessions happen within the first two visits, mainly because early visits have the highest user volume.

Recommendation:

Analyze funnel drop-offs and repeat-visit behavior to identify where conversion can be improved.

Funnel Analysis

Key Insight

The largest drop-off occurs between Product Page and Cart. Approximately 60% of sessions leave the funnel at this stage, making it the most significant point of abandonment in the customer journey.

Recommendation:
Review the product page experience, pricing visibility, and add-to-cart flow to identify potential friction points and improve conversion.

Returning Users Analysis

Key Insight

Conversion rises sharply with repeat visits:
~19% for one-session users vs. ~73% for users with 5+ sessions.

Recommendation:
Use remarketing, email reminders, personalized offers, and cart recovery flows to bring users back.
